Agency of Transportation Invites Vermonters to Learn More About Electric Vehicles

Barre, Vt. – If you are considering acquiring an electric vehicle for the first time or wondering what it would be like to make the switch to electric, join our webinar next Tuesday, September 19, to learn more.

The Vermont Agency of Transportation (AOT) is leading the State's efforts to electrify transportation in order to reduce Vermont's carbon output. The EV webinar will cover the basic information needed to make the decision to go electric. AOT partner Drive Electric Vermont will host the webinar, which will summarize how EVs work, the types of EVs available, and incentives that can reduce the cost. The webinar will also address common questions about EV charging and winter performance.

The virtual webinar on Zoom will be held from 6:30-7:30 p.m. on September 19.
